AIR-LOCK LOGS IN BIG DEMAND

PLANT IN STEADY OPERATION SINCE AUGUST

Many Orders On Hand And More Coming In

Placing Exhibit At Battle Creek Out-Door Show

Air-Lock Logs, manufactured by the National Log Construction Co. of this city, are winning popular favor and are being acclaimed for their beauty, durability and practical uses wherever they are shown. They are for log cottages, homes, office buildings, garages, and for just about every use where log construction is desired.

water-proof and will last indefinitely. The logs are hollow bored which eliminates checking to a minimum, and also provides an air chamber that insulates against heat, cold and dampness.

Wherever these logs are shown they are quite the center of attraction, and there is hardly a day passes that does not bring in an inquiry and often times orders. R. A. Wright, the local manager of the firm, is an energetic business hustler and has brot this industry from a small beginning to a real, substantial enterprise.

Already, he says, there is the need of expansion in order to care for the fast growing business. In an interview with him yesterday he gave us the following information concerning the firm's activities:

"Actual production at our factory, after approximately eight months experimental work, started August 25, 1933. Since that time the factory has run steadily except for a week's shut down during the Xmas holidays. During that period, that is to date, about 100,000 linear feet of logs have gone through our factory. Up to date, shipments have been made and buildings erected at the following locations—Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Waters, Fredonia, Twin Lakes, McQuillan Lake, AuSable River, Glenzie, East Tawas, Pontiac, Fenton, Clare, Houghton Lake, and Marine City. A total of 17 buildings. At this writing orders are on file for six more buildings to be erected this Spring.

"Advertising is being carried on through newspapers and sports magazines. Also there have been displays at builders shows and at Masonic Mardi Gras, Detroit. Displays are booked for the future at Detroit for the Annual Builders Show, at Chicago for the Sportsman's Show and at Battle Creek for the Southern Michigan Out-Door Show.

"Organizations have been formed for covering sales and construction as follows: States are divided into districts, each district being in charge of a factory representative, who in turn contacts all lumber dealers and appoints such dealers as authorized dealers. He then contacts all architects and contractors, explaining construction methods and from the contractors he selects authorized construction units. These construction units are obliged to set up a place of business located in the business section where AIR-LOCK LOG products are displayed and sold. Each construction unit is obliged to furnish architectural service to customers and must be equipped with power concrete mixer, band saws, etc., and be ready to go to any point in the state to erect buildings on 24 hours notice.

"Enquiries coming direct to this company, are answered and the factory representatives of the district in which the enquiry originates, makes a personal contact with the customer, offering personal service in conjunction with the various building problems that arise.

"The company has been solicited by the Battle Creek Enquirer News to furnish and ship a 16x20 log cabin for the southern Michigan Outdoor Show, to be held in Battle Creek, March 22, to 28th inclusive. This show is to be held in the Kellogg Auditorium and in conjunction with the Boy Scout organization. The company have been offered a space of 60x110 in the center of the auditorium for the display of this log building and the Department of Parks and Boulevards of Battle Creek have agreed to sod and landscape entirely around the cabin. Following the closing of the show, this log cabin will be donated to the Boy Scouts, who are to have it erected at a lake near Battle Creek. Incidentally in conjunction with this display, the company is going to advertise Grayling as the Capital City of Winter Sports and Summer Playground of the State, and will hereafter carry that advertising on their various advertising pamphlets that are forwarded over the entire country. These pamphlets are being forwarded in response to inquiries that are being received daily from all parts of the United States.

"The company started work on this display building the morning of March 14 and the material for the building will be shipped the 18th."

Mr. R. A. Wright will attend this Outdoor Show and will be assisted by the factory representative of Battle Creek, Mr. Carl Gillis of the Gillis Construction Company, who will take care of the erection of the display building.

Mrs. Lars Rasmussen, one of the few remaining pioneers of Crawford County and northern Michigan, passed away at her home at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning following a lingering illness of several years duration. Having lived in Grayling for over half a century Mrs. Rasmussen had witnessed the progress in the town's growth from almost its beginning and could relate many of the interesting happenings of the days of old.

Mary Hanson was born in West-er of Kippinge, Denmark April 19, 1853. Her brother, the late Rasmus Hanson having come to this section when it was inhabited by the Indians and the country a wilderness, wrote to his family of the opportunities in America and they in turn came here to make their home. It was on Sept. 1, 1882 that she and the other members of her family arrived in America and directly came to Grayling. A couple of years after coming here were spent in Manistee where on Sept. 29, 1888 she was united in marriage to Lars Rasmussen. They returned to Grayling in 1890 where their son Harold was born. Mrs. Rasmussen was a member of the Danish church and in her younger days took part in all its activities. She was held in high esteem by her hosts of friends and her example and influence will be a cherished memory to her family and friends in years to come.

Shake Shingle Mill Having Busy Season

Clare Madsen reports that his shake-shingle mill is busy with orders that will keep them running full capacity for the next three months.

Mr. Madsen has been in business only about a year but his shake-shingles have made a big hit and are destined to be in great demand for log cabins, pavilions and most any other large structure. They are made mostly of cedar, white and Norway pines and range in length from 2 to 5 feet. At the butt ends they are from a half inch to a full inch in thickness, according to the desires of the customers.

The State Department of Conservation is busy constructing two buildings at the Hartwick Pines Park each 80x90 feet in size. These will be used for housing a Michigan lumberman's historical museum. The shingles for these structures will be from the Madsen mill, and will be in keeping with the type of the two structures. Mr. Madsen says that the two buildings will require about 100 squares of shingles. This in itself is a fine large order, and more are coming in frequently.

Jacks West Branch Merchants' 34-25

Two of about the cleanest games of the season were played at the local gym Friday night when the Grayling Lumberjacks downed the West Branch Merchants and Mutt Burrows' Cubs took CCC 674 into camp.

In the Lumberjack-West Branch game smooth passing and fine team play were exhibited by both teams and turned out to be one of the nicest games to watch witnessed in some time. Neither team got very much ahead of each other and the score stayed at one and two point differences until the last quarter when the Jacks put on one of their old fashioned scoring sprees for which they are noted and the game ended 34 to 25.

Neal officiated at the Cubs' 674 fracas and Sheehy refereed the Lumberjack-West Branch game.

Cubs Win
Drawing themselves out of the hole in the second half "Mutt" Burrows' Cubs won a nice victory over CCC 674 the same evening, in a very interesting preliminary. During the first half Dawson and Sorenson were the only ones of the Cubs able to find the basket and they accounted for the five points, while 674 piled up a nice count of 14, with Page and Kenel responsible.

After talking it over during the half the Cubs came back and outplayed their opponents, rallying to their colors with 20 points to 674's 9 points, the game ending 25 to 23.

ENDRICKS BABE DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Little Milo James Endricks Jr., 15 months old, and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Endricks (Nina Sorenson) passed away at their home at 2:00 o'clock Monday morning after a 24 hour illness. The child contracted pneumonia Sunday and that with a throat ailment contributed to its sudden demise.

The babe rested in its little white casket in a veritable bed of flowers, all tokens of sympathy to the grief-stricken parents from hosts of friends. Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Hans Juhl officiating. Four neighbor boys of the Endricks bore the child to its resting-place in Elmwood cemetery, Junior and Ted Nelson and Melvin and Weldon Nelson.

Mrs. William LeVall, sister of Mr. Endricks, was here to attend the services. Sincere sympathy is extended by many friends.

"FIGHTING BOB" EVANS

One Sunday not long after the battle of Santiago, Admiral R. Evans was strolling down Broadway. As it was yet some time before service he entered Grace Church and seated himself in a pew to rest. Before long a well dressed man came in and seated in the same pew. The man became restless and looked at Evans with manifest annoyance. At length he took a card, wrote upon it and requested the usher to deliver it to the man at the other end of the pew. The card bearing the name of one of New York's four hundred carried this information: "I pay $1000 for the exclusive use of this pew." The word exclusive was underlined. "Fighting Bob" drew out his own card and sent it back with this reply, "You pay too damn much."

NOTICE To Unemployed Men

During the last few months we have avoided asking applicants to report at the National Reemployment Office periodically in order to determine whether or not they were still unemployed, the reason being that there was little opportunity for securing other employment. Also that we did not want them to travel long distances merely for the purpose of stating that they were still out of work.

Due to the change in industrial employment during the past few weeks, we believe that we have a considerable number in our files who are no longer available, and in order to check our files to this end, it will be necessary to make a complete re-registration of man unemployed who still desire work.

Renewals of registration can be made by personal call at the office or the applicant may mail us a postal card, or use the phone or send the message by someone else coming in, to signify that they are still desirous of employment.

All applicants who are desirous of employment but who have not renewed their application by March 30, 1934, will be cancelled from our available list.

National Reemployment Office.
Earl J. Hewitt, Mgr.

ALPENA EDITOR HEADS CRIPPLED CHILDREN SOCIETY

The Michigan Society for Crippled Children, in collaboration with the International Society, is about to launch an intensive campaign to further the work for crippled children.

The campaign will be in the form of County Committees throughout the State, and will be conducted during the two weeks preceding Easter. The purposes are to make everyone familiar with the problems incident to the care, treatment, education and placement of crippled children, as well as the prevention of crippling conditions, and to secure, through the sale of Easter White Cross Seals at one penny each, to as many people as possible, sufficient funds with which to carry on the work.

The cooperation of Judges of Probate, County Welfare Agents, County Commissioners of Schools, Superintendents of Schools, members of Rotary and other service clubs, Parent-Teacher Associations, the American Legion, the King's Daughters, Women's Clubs, school groups, church groups, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other organizations is being invited, and a thorough educational campaign will be conducted.

The idea of breaking away from the old plan of securing a comparatively few larger contributions and popularizing the movement by acquainting everybody with it is the outstanding thing in the campaign.

Before you can discipline others successfully you must discipline yourself.

THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1934

SITTING beside a well known Michigan legislator at a luncheon in Lansing last Friday noon, he turned to us and remarked, "I suppose you are all steamed up about that proposed bridge across the Straits of Mackinac." We assured him that we were not, and that we were very much opposed to it. In the conversation that followed he stated that if the traffic across the straits were increased four fold and that the same charges for autos and passengers as are now in force were maintained that the revenue received would not be sufficient to make the required payments on the bonds and pay the interest. And that wouldn't take into account the cost of maintenance and the cost of the attendance and patrol of such a structure. Even tho it might be an engineering and mechanical possibility to successfully construct such a bridge, of which we have our doubts, the cost to the taxpayers of this state would be far in excess of the benefits derived. We contended that if the State will double its ferry service across the straits from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace and carry passengers and autos free, even then it would be cheaper than to construct such a bridge as is proposed. In this our friend readily agreed. While the talk is strong among some people of the State in favor of the bridge, still we believe that the people of Michigan are not ready to carry the burden of building and maintaining it. The impression that everyone in the northern counties is "steamed up" in favor of it, we sincerely believe is all wet. It hardly seems that anyone who has studied into the matter seriously could favor the construction of a bridge across the straits. We understand that the estimated cost is $30,000,000.

CLARENCE JOHNSON was one of the hardest fighters against prohibition with whom we have personal acquaintance. Now he is one of the regularly appointed liquor inspectors, operating in this district. And he is now just as big a booster for law enforcement as he was a fighter against prohibition. The latter law, he believed unfair and unwarranted and he bent his efforts toward its repeal and the establishment of the legal sale of good liquor instead of the poison that was being sold at exorbitant prices during prohibition. Now, Johnson says, everyone can have good liquor legally and there is no need for bootleggers and moonshiners and they should be put out of business. Right here in Grayling, he says, there are people working for the CWA and boys serving in CCC camps who are being employed and supported by the government, mostly from revenues received from liquor licenses, who are among the bootleggers' best customers. This is a fair example of "smiting the hand that feeds you." Johnson says that if every CWA and CCC worker will, if they have to buy liquor, confine their purchases to buying from legal sources that the bootleggers won't have enough patronage left to keep him in business. Well, if you men who accept government money for services, have the least sense of gratitude then you will seriously consider what Mr. Johnson says. And how would it work if anyone serving on these public jobs is caught buying illicit liquor that he is presumptuously discharged. A disloyal employee should not be tolerated by the government any more than by a private individual or organization.

WE recall one of our first visits to Grayling—about 25 years ago. We believe it was in early April and the snowbanks in the business districts were piled mountain high in front of business places. And besides the snow there were mountains of ashes from store stoves and furnaces. A person walking on one side of the street couldn't see anyone on the opposite side of the street because of the high banks of snow and ash at the sides of the street. It wasn't a very inspiring sight and we recall that at that time of our childhood, the Crawford Avalanche was the same as not taking notice of this situation. These things you have forgotten, the snow of that time apparently started melting and the streets gradually ceased the emptying of ashes on main street to be discontinued. This was a fine step toward social betterment. Those nuisances are no longer in evidence and our streets now are as tidy as those of any other community in the north. Naturally at this time of the year after the coldest winter within the memory of our oldest inhabitants, streets are dark from the soot of smoke. This will soon wash away and then after a good clean-up our streets should be as slick and clean as ever. Thanks to our late councils, and the seed sown by the former editor of the Avalanche, there is a fine local pride for clean streets and public places.

What Other Editors Have To Say

William H. Berkey of the Cassopolis Vigilant resents the attempt of Mr. Mogan to fool people relative to taxation. Here is what Mr. Berkey said last week:

This man Mogan, who has charge of the state sales tax department, gives us a big laugh. We don't know whether he was trying to "kid" the people of Michigan or whether he didn't know better, but he said: "The state tax rate is the lowest since 1855 per thousand of valuation and it is the lowest since 1894 per capita. This has been due to the enactment of the general sales tax act, which has reduced the state property tax to 60c per thousand."

We wonder if Mr. Mogan never heard of the tax limitation amendment which the people themselves voted at the election of November of 1932. Won't someone please tell him about it; and you might also tell him that old Cass county's head tax alone amounts to over twenty-six thousand dollars; and goodness knows how much sales tax we pay in this county. Don't try to fool us again, Mr. Mogan, please don't.

Crazy-Headed

Now that it becomes quite certain the Governor is not going to get through his thirty-million dollar "incipient insurrection" bond issue, for even he is not willing to submit it to the people, he declares he will submit the proposition to bridge the Straits of Mackinac, a thirty to fifty million dollar experiment. A proposition that many engineers are not willing to endorse.

The idea in these times is "crazy-headed" to say the least. Comstock may think it will garner some votes in the U. P. but it will lose a lot of votes downstate, too.

We really should enlarge the nut-houses. For from present prospects we will have use for them when this legislative session is over.—Jim Haskins in Howard City Record.

IF

Some twenty years ago Henry Ford was being urged to become a candidate for the presidency of the United States. Many who had followed Mr. Ford's career and knew of his tremendous success and of his ability to accomplish things thought that if he could be induced to become a candidate and be elected, he would do much for his countrymen.

Nothing came of the matter at the time. Mr. Ford continued to devote his time and energy to the building of his business—now the largest individually controlled industry in the world.

But what if Mr. Ford had become a candidate for the presidency and had been elected twenty years ago?

Would we today be in the plight we are in? Would we be digging ourselves out of a mess that was of our own creation? We doubt it greatly.

Many of the most commendable things President Roosevelt is now trying to accomplish were advocated by Mr. Ford twenty years ago. Right now the government is spending $25,000,000 to create subsistence homesteads for people who can secure work a few months each year in factories. Didn't Mr. Ford start this very plan nearly a quarter of a century ago? Plymouth has profited by Mr. Ford's idea along this very line. His little factories around here that provide employment a portion of the year for hundreds of people and his insistence that employees plant gardens each spring is an example of the very thing that President Roosevelt's Division of Subsistence Homesteads under the Department of the Interior, is now doing.

In fact the department secured many of its ideas from Mr. Ford.

Mr. Ford was always bitterly opposed to the manipulations of Wall street. Would we have gone through the debacle that has brought ruin to so many hundreds of thousands of business men? Of course not. The present administration is trying to do what it can to undo the damage that Mr. Ford saw coming twenty years ago.

ENTERTAINED AT LINEN SHOW

Mrs. Sarah E. Milne entertained at a linen shower for her nephew Patsy McKay and Miss Clarice Welch last Friday evening.

There were thirty young and older ladies and gents as guests and the evening was spent in games and Mrs. Milne had many prizes. Among them was a rubber doll that Herb Gothro won and of course as he had not played with a doll for so many years he had to break it. Miss Ruth McNeven and Patsy McKay both won prizes but they are concealing their identity. Miss Lulu Malonen was the luckiest one of the crowd as she garnered five prizes.

The young guests of honor received many beautiful gifts. Mrs. Milne served a very delicious lunch at shortly after midnight and the merry crowd went home having spent a very jolly evening.

LOCAL PHARMACIST POINTS TO DANGERS IN MEDICINE CHEST ACCUMULATIONS

The danger of accumulating in the family medicine chest of used portions of medicines that have been prescribed by physicians was pointed out today by C. J. MacNamara, registered pharmacist of the Mac & Gidley drug store. His statement was made in connection with "First Aid Week" being observed March 11th to 17th by all members of the A.D.S. Fellowship, a national professional organization of registered pharmacists.

Countless instances of illness and, perhaps, even death of young children each year are traceable to the unquenchable curiosity of youngsters in exploring the contents of medicine chests in the home, he stated. Families with young children should limit the medicine cabinet's stock only to first aid requisites and simple household remedies. Bichloride of mercury tablets, sugar coated pills or medicinal liquids should be put absolutely out of reach of children. Use of "leftover" portions of medicines by adults is also unsafe in that taking of aged and probably impotent and ineffective medicines may have serious consequences by delaying professional treatment of the proper sort, he said.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere appreciation is extended to our neighbors and friends for the many kindnesses and beautiful expressions of sympathy in our late bereavement.

Lars Rasmussen and Family,
 Mrs. H. R. Bay and Family.

APPRECIATION

We want firemen of the Grayling fire department and others to know that we appreciate very much their efforts last evening during the fire that threatened to destroy our home.

George Olson and Family.

Most of us talk, not because we have anything to say, but because silence is embarrassing.

It is when he doesn't keep his mouth shut that a fish gets caught.

Ford's efforts to maintain peace at the time this country sent its youth to Europe to be slaughtered so that munition makers might become richer. They said he wasn't patriotic for opposing our part in that war.

But hasn't time proven that he was right, and that if he could have ended the war that the grafters and the money grabbers were making, much of our misery would have been spared?

If a writer steals an idea from some other writer he is accused of plagiarism.

We wonder what they call it in politics? Isn't the whole NRA scheme of shorter working days and higher pay and fair dealing the very thing that Mr. Ford introduced into business years back? When Mr. Ford cut his working hours and when he raised his pay, so-called "business leaders" said he would ruin industry.

What about it now. Does not almost the entire success of the Roosevelt recovery program depend on the very thing that Mr. Ford did two decades ago and for which he was assailed?

Yes, we wonder if Mr. Ford had become president at the time he was being talked of for this important post and which many of the insipid politicians of the day fought so frantically, if we would have been carried down to the very bottom of economic disaster.

There is but one answer—and that answer is—If Mr. Ford had been made president of the United States twenty years ago, and had been permitted to run the affairs of the nation in the same way he conducted his business, we would today be the happiest and most prosperous nation in the history of the world.—The Plymouth Mail.

Our country is no longer ours. We are fit.—Toledo Blade.

Mr. Guggisberg says that it is intended to hold a big political pow-wow in Gaylord some time this summer and at that time it is intended to sound out just where every candidate for public office stands on important public matters. A small group of local citizens were present at an accidental meeting with our Gaylord friends and the sentiment among them was that Mr. Guggisberg was on the right track, and that it is about time that we find out who wants to go to the legislature or other public office and what kind of men they may be. It is high time that we quit electing misfits to send to Lansing to make our laws. Editor D. E. Matheson and an Editor Bert Kiley of Roscommon also were present at this meeting.

WASHINGTON COMMENTS

The recommendation of the President that the principal as well as the interest be guaranteed by the government under the Home Owners' Loan law is worthy of consideration for at least two reasons. In the first place, those who hesitated to accept unguaranteed securities in exchange for mortgages, will have less to fear, and conversions will occur on a far larger scale than heretofore, and with less opposition from persons having funds invested in mortgages. Second, it cannot be denied that the offering of securities in which the interest alone was guaranteed, tended to cast a stigma upon the whole mass of government paper. With the principal of the Home Owners' Loan bonds guaranteed, the phrase "as good as a government bond" will take on much of its old-time significance, and confidence in government bonds of all sorts will be strengthened.

It is said that another change in the personnel of the President's cabinet is contemplated, the Attorney General being transferred to the post of Governor of the Philippines. By the suggested change, the Attorney General will lose his chance to become President by succession. If the President, the Vice-President, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of War were removed by death, the Attorney General would occupy the White House. The Attorney General, of course, does not covet the place of the Chief Executive through any such calamity as that, and no doubt will take his place on the island without giving a thought to the fact that so far as the next three years are concerned, his chance for attaining the White House has disappeared.

Legalized liquor made a quiet entry into Washington on the first of March. Stocks were short, but were soon reinforced by ample supplies from without the boundaries of the District of Columbia.

Business was good, there was a considerable amount of fire-water consumed, and arrests for intoxication were above normal. Window displays attracted attention and were looked at much as one regards the curiosities in a museum. Four per cent beer came without the calamity that was feared by the dregs, and without creating the Utopia that was hoped for by the wets. It is to be hoped that stronger potions may follow the same course. It may be that during the dry period, the public has outgrown heavy drinking, as it outgrew lesser vices, snuff-taking for instance. It will be a year or two before the effect of the return of drink can be determined accurately.

The memorial to the most considerate man should be erected in the state of New York. A burglar operating there collected what he wanted, and then had a lunch from the ice box, carefully spreading newspapers over the polished table from which he ate, and placing the dishes upon them.

Counting back a decade from the present year, the Allies and Germany were dickering over reparations. Twenty years ago, the World War started, thirty years ago the Russo-Jap war began, and forty years ago the Chinese-Jap war opened.

Valuable Information For Poultry Owners

Freedom from disease is more to be desired in a poultry flock, than fancy breeding.

Healthy chicks can be produced only from or among healthy fowls. Seventy-five well kept fowls free from disease will produce more profit than a large flock where disease exists.

Losses from death are extensive in a flock where infection exists, but natural death seldom or never occurs in a young flock free from disease.

An infected hen seldom produces eggs during the later stages of disease, therefore, when egg infection takes place it is probably during the early stages of the disease.

The above facts apply to all poultry disease but especially to tuberculosis which is taking an extensive toll in its spread through the poultry flocks of Michigan.

To control this disastrous spread of infection we urge the disposal of all old fowls each year and the building of an entirely new flock from chicks known to have been produced by healthy fowls. We urge that new flocks be raised upon clean ground entirely apart from the old flock. After the disposal of the old fowls all buildings and runs must be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before being occupied by the new flock.

If you will follow this advice, each year, there will be health, wealth and happiness in the keeping of poultry.

Why wait?

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

The first strawberries of the year were on the market here last Friday, and the first automobiles on the streets.

John Carter of St. Helen has bought an auto which he will use in showing land to prospective purchasers. It accommodates 20 passengers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stannard returned from Flint yesterday where they enjoyed a winter's visit and rest with old home friends.

Yesterday was ideal for March. Rain and snow, cold and blow, and howling.

Supervisor Barnes of South Branch was in the city Tuesday, busy looking after the interest of the county.

A recent clipping from an Albion newspaper announces L. T. Wright, recently of Grayling, has bought a residence in that city and that he expects to make it his future home.

Bermuda Has No Snakes

The only country in the world which can truthfully assert that it has no snakes is Bermuda. They are unknown there. Bermudian children think of a snake as an extinct monster that lived in the Garden of Eden. If they were to be shown an American rattlesnake they would probably try to make a pet of it. But lacking as she is in snakes, Bermuda has an abundance of birds and flowers. More than 188 species of birds have been recorded in Bermuda.

Robbers Take Everything Except House and Barn

Salt Lake City.—Robbers who ransacked the farm of W. A. Vincent took everything but his house and barn, he reported to sheriffs. Included in the loot were: One sack of alfalfa seed, one of potatoes, and one of beans; a sink and plumbing fixtures from the kitchen; a spring tooth harrow, a disk plow, five pitchforks, a mattress, silverware, and other household furnishings, furniture, and a radio.

Woman, Aged 94, Walks Mile a Day for Exercise

Walnut Ridge, Ark.—Following her theory of plenty of exercise to gain a long life, Mrs. Martha E. Jones, ninety-four years old, walks a mile a day "just for the exercise." She expects to "walk a mile a day" when she is one hundred years old. Her mother lacked only four days of being one hundred years old when she died, and Mrs. Jones' father lived to be one hundred and nine years old.

Nine-Year-Old Writes and Reads 5 Languages

Dalhousie, Texas.—Bobby Ryan, nine years old, can speak and read five languages. He was born of American parents in Manila, Philippine Islands, where he had a Chinese nurse. He acquired a Japanese nurse when his family moved to Yokohama and Tokyo. He learned the French and Spanish languages from books and conversation.

Antelope Has 59-Inch Horns

Cambridge, Mass.—Horns 59 inches long—within 5 inches of the world record—grace a mounted giant sable antelope which has been added to the rare animal collection at the Harvard museum of comparative zoology. The antelope was bagged by Prentiss Gray, of New York, in Portuguese Angola and presented by him.

Banking Act Gives Banks New Problem

Washington.—Passage of the Glass-Steagall banking law—the banking act of 1933—has produced a condition among depositors in banks which was not foreseen during debate on the bill in congress. The law prohibits payment of interest by banks on balances held by depositors in their checking accounts which are designated as demand deposits. But interest can be paid on time deposits which necessarily are left for stated periods. So passage of the law has caused a lot of people to switch part of the money they have in their checking accounts to the accounts where they can get interest on the funds. The banks are worried as to how they will readjust their practices to meet this sudden condition, according to the treasury. It is nothing serious, however, as the safety of banks is concerned, but banks try to keep the money invested and the necessity of keeping it invested is much greater when it is left with the bank as a time deposit, for the interest rate always has been higher.

Chocolate Works Wonders With Simple Desserts

As a help in planning daily desserts, chocolate has long been a boon to housewives. To such simple desserts as steamed or cottage pudding, tapioca or custard, chocolate brings a new appeal. And, for good measure, chocolate also adds considerable food value to these desserts—an important consideration when winter winds blow.

HOME TOWN GETS AID FROM BEGGAR

Quebec Mendicant Lends His Money to Birthplace.

Quebec.—Beggars in this old city are sharply divided by caste, there being the "regulars" who occupy fixed pitches and who only accept money, street car tickets or tobacco, and the "occasional," mostly women, who go from house to house, taking anything that is offered.

Belonging to a regular racket at present, with most of those who work the various ways hailing from outside points, but while ragged clothes and a pitiful face are generally the main stock in trade, these do not necessarily mean that the beggars are penniless. For instance, Bebe Emmond, who is known as Campette and who has his pitch near the Capitol theater on Quebec's main shopping thoroughfare, is quite well off, and in addition to a healthy bank account owns a block of houses in St. Sauveur, the French quarter, and has lent the municipality of Chicoutimi, which he claims as his birthplace, a considerable sum of money.

Campette is an exception, however, for the majority of the professionals have fallen upon much tougher times, for which they blame Philippe Trotter, an insignificant little fellow.

Trotter, who was a professional beggar up to a couple of months ago, is now in Quebec jail, scheduled to be hanged on August 18 for the murder of Marie Anne Webster. During his trial, which aroused widespread interest, he announced that his takings were between eight and twelve dollars a day.

This statement, published throughout the province, caused many people to refuse to give to beggars. They now turn whatever sums they can afford for charity over to organized associations.

Kruschen Salts—(a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body should possess to function properly) purify your blood of harmful acids, and aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material—the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat.

But don't worry just as long as you have Kruschen Salts. Take a half teaspoon every morning before breakfast in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you'll feel better than ever before—years younger, more energy. You'll soon possess that enviable beauty, clear skin, sparkling eyes, superb figure which only perfect health can impart.

"MORE SPEED"

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Another contribution to "Speed" has been made by the Pullman company of Chicago. They have built a train capable of running a hundred and ten miles an hour.

In the construction of an alloy of aluminum and copper, and in weight is only a little more than half of that of the steel from which many of the modern pullman cars are constructed.

Well—what of it? The achievement doubtless marks an important advance in the field of engineering, but who wants to travel at the rate of a hundred and ten miles an hour? Under certain circumstances such speed may be of importance, as when a surgeon is hastening to an operation or a person is endeavoring to reach the deathbed of a dear one.

For all practical purposes, however, this accelerated speed in travel seems not only useless but a positive detriment.

About three years ago we were all traveling along at a mighty fast pace, not only in railway and automobile transportation, but in every other conceivable activity. Speed is like the elasticity in a rubber band. You can stretch it so far and then it snaps. Something did snap in our industrial and social system. One of its major causes was the speed with which we were manufacturing goods, making money and trying to find the ultimate pleasure in living.

It is traveling at the rate of a hundred and ten miles an hour will aid in making permanent the moral and spiritual element in our civilization, all well and good. But is speed, however expressed, inherently capable of producing that effect? Never was it more important than at the present moment that we recover the soul of our country, instead of the world, if civilization is to endure.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

President Asks for Shorter Hours and Higher Wages; NRA Penalty Provisions Will Be Invoked; Desperate Dillinger Escapes From Jail.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SEVERAL thousand members of the code authorities gathered in Constitution hall, Washington, at the call of the President to review and strengthen NRA industrial agreements. The opening session was formal and rather stately, with the members of the cabinet, other high government officials and many senators and congressmen present.

Before this assembly came Mr. Roosevelt to tell not so much what had been accomplished in the last twelve months as what he hoped for in the near future. He warned the industrial leaders that "the government cannot forever continue to absorb the whole burden of unemployment."

Briefly summarized, this is what Mr. Roosevelt proposed: Wage increases and shortening of hours to bolster consuming power and spread employment. Greater adherence by the people to the Blue Eagle symbol to make all "play the game."

Continued enforcement of the anti-trust laws to retain competition and prevent monopoly. Strict adherence by employers to the law allowing free choice by employees of representatives to do their collective bargaining.

Permanent reorganization of the economic and social structure along the lines already started. General Johnson, NRA administrator, wound up the code authority sessions with the blunt announcement that the Blue Eagle rules were to be tightened up and the assertion: "I have been too gentle. You ain't seen nothing yet."

Urging the industrialists to play the game fairly, the general uttered three warnings. One was that under specific orders from the President the NRA was reorganizing to enforce the penal sections of the act; the second, that the country faces this spring "the worst epidemic of strikes in our history because of illegal interposition of employers in the matter of company unions; the third, that with the recent Supreme court decision upholding the New York state emergency milk law, the administration has dropped all hesitation, and is ready to use the powers of the industrial law to the limit if opposition forces it."

To draft his new plan for making more jobs, Johnson asked the code authorities of the heavy goods industries and of the consumer groups to select twelve men each. President Roosevelt, said the administrator, has approved the plan for putting teeth in the NRA. The President himself intimated that he would ask congress to extend the time limit on the licensing provisions of the NRA. The act gives authority to the President to place any industry under license and to revoke the license of any concern in the industry, thereby compelling it to shut down. This authority to license expires next June under the terms of the recovery act which granted it for one year only, whereas the life of the act was limited to two years.

COMPLETION of President Roosevelt's first year in the White House called forth a chorus of laudation and of hostile criticism from his admirers and his opponents. The least that can be said is that it has been a year of excitement and action, of bold experimentation in methods of government, and of the spending of vast sums of money in the furtherance of the President's determination to establish a New Deal that amounts to a social revolution.

Mr. Roosevelt himself, in a brief address on the occasion of the installing of Dr. J. M. Gray as chancellor of the American university in Washington, said "one of the most salient features of the salient year in our American life has been the amazing and universal increase in the interest of the people in the subject of government."

The joint congressional Republic campaign committee took occasion to issue a statement declaring that "the administration ends its first year" with many platform pledges—awarded, and practically abandoned, with policies unshaped and conflicting, with its monetary program bewilderingly uncertain—a situation baffling enough to prove a hindrance to a return to prosperity.

AS WAS predicted recently, the President appointed Judge C. Frank Murphy as chief justice of the United States. She is the first woman to be made a federal judge. Judge Murphy was admitted to the bar twenty years ago her legal career in Ohio has been notable. In 1923 she was elected to the supreme court of that state. The President also appointed Mrs. Bernice Frye of Cleveland as collector of customs there, and Stuart P. Corrigan, likewise of Cleveland, to be minister to El Salvador.

SEVERAL more vacancies in the Democratic national committee were announced as a result of the President's belief that national committees should not proceed any further government departments or hold party and government positions at the same time. Arthur F. Mallon of Omaha, who was floor manager for Mr. Roosevelt in the Chicago convention and who is counsel for Public Works projects involving some $15,000,000, resigned from the national committee; and his action was followed two days later by the resignation of Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, of Wyoming, director of the mint, who quit the committee with reluctance. At this writing the only prominent holdouts remaining are Postmaster General Farley, who is chairman of the national committee, and also of the New York Democratic committee, and William A. Julian of Ohio, treasurer of the United States.

Mr. Mallon, it is rumored, may turn up as an opponent of Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska in the forthcoming race for the United States senatorship.

SENATOR SIMON D. FESS of Ohio is one of the most vocal of the administration's critics, and he found opportunity for another energetic attack when the Senate was considering Senator Tom Connally's bill to include cattle among the basic commodities subject to farm adjustment control. The provision for an appropriation of $200,000,000 was the special point of attack.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, attacked the bill by Fess, McNary of Oregon, Dickinson of Iowa, and Carey of Wyoming and Vandenberg of Michigan, all of whom agreed that the Agricultural Adjustment program has been a complete failure. The Democrats, with the exception of Connally, made no reply to the verbal barrage.

The Ohio senator said that hog prices had fallen instead of rising, that the prices of farm commodities not under the AAA had in many cases risen faster and higher than the so-called basic commodities.

"That sort of thing is nauseating to any decent person who wants business to be done in a business way," he said, alluding to the hog buying program. "It's time to stop this foolish experimentation, time to take the heavy hand of government off business and let business recover."

Senator Vandenberg and Senator McNary could not understand why $200,000,000 were required for cattle when only $100,000,000 were asked in the original bill covering six commodities.

They suggested that benefits were to be paid before a processing tax was levied and that perhaps no processing tax was intended to be levied on cattle. Senator Connally fumed, but could not answer their queries.

"I think I can answer," Senator Dickinson finally put in. "The AAA has obligated itself for $200,000,000 in benefits; an additional $100,000,000 are called for 1935. Yet treasury receipts show only $200,000,000 received from processing taxes."

"In other words, a potential deficit at the present time of more than $600,000,000," remarked Senator Vandenberg.

CHICAGO'S most sensational murder trial in recent years resulted in the conviction of the elderly Dr. Alice Wynnekoop who was charged with killing her daughter-in-law, Rheta, presumably to get the insurance on her life. The jury fixed her penalty at 30 years in the penitentiary, which amounts to a life sentence. The first hearing of the case resulted in a mistrial because the defendant was too ill for its continuance.

Doctor Wynnekoop, a member of a family of physicians, had practiced medicine in Chicago for many years and her crime astounded her numerous friends.

John Dillinger

JOHN DILLINGER, eminent bank robber, gang leader and alleged murderer, who was captured with great ease in Arizona and conveyed to Indiana for trial, became irked by confinement in the "escape-proof" jail at Crown Point. So he made a pistol out of a piece of wood and the handle of a safety razor, cowed the guards and deputies and locked them in cells, obtained two machine guns from the jail armory and a pistol from a guard, took Sheriff Lillian Holley's car from the garage and drove away with a negro murderer. They took one deputy sheriff and a garage attendant as hostages but released them near Peotone, Ill., and then vanished. It was believed Dillinger was hidden somewhere in the vicinity of Chicago. The law authorities of the Middle West were all searching for him, and all officers had orders to kill him at sight.

Sheriff Holley's car was found abandoned on a street in Chicago. This escape of the desperado was one of the boldest performances of his career, and it is amazing to consider how it could have been successfully carried out, in view of Dillinger's record. Perhaps some sympathy is due the woman sheriff, Mrs. Holley, who was given that office after the death of her husband. Terribly depressed by the fiasco, she made the futile gesture of strapping an automatic about her waist and setting out to find Dillinger.

Mrs. Holley declared she would not resign her office, but steps were taken to force her out by court action. Two of her deputies were arrested, charged with aiding and abetting the escape.

DESPITE the protests of the "little navy" group, the senate by a vote of 63 to 13 approved the administration's naval replacement bill authorizing the construction of a 18,200-ton aircraft carrier, approximately 65 destroyers totaling 99,200 tons, some 20 submarines totaling 55,000 tons and the airplanes (from 650 to 1,250) required to complete the fleet's air equipment.

Planned to cover a five-year period, the replacement program will cost approximately $475,000,000 in all for the projected vessels, and $65,000,000 more if the maximum number of planes are built.

As the top snows and ice melt in streets and yards it reveals mountains of black sooty surface, the accumulations of falling coal smoke during the winter months. Of course it is just the same in other towns where snow and ice conditions still exist. A few warm days should remove the last vestiges of last November and intervening storms and then landscapes should again look clean and more pleasing.

At that time a Printers-Publishers regional (Michigan) code authority will have to be set up for administration of the code and also the code will be thoroughly reviewed. If any editor or job printer remains at home at the time of that meeting he will be where he should not be. It is his duty to be at the state capital at 10 a. m. next Saturday. These organization meetings are being held on orders from the national code authority and are mandatory.

The annual Independent basketball tournament, sponsored by Grayling Lumberjacks, that was to have been played at the local gym this week end has been postponed to Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26-27-28. Our fire marshal reports many frozen hydrants in town and asks us to caution everyone to be especially careful about fires. See that your flues and chimneys are in good condition, keep inflammable material away from stoves and furnaces and avoid overheating. Also a supply of water on hand for emergencies in case of small fires, is good protection. The fact is that in cases of fires in certain parts of the town only our chemical apparatus would be available for fire protection. It is requested that this warning be carefully observed.

Honesty needs no "change to keep up with the times."

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

(By Congressman Roy O. Wood, 1st, South Michigan District.)

Speaking for the President's proposal to take over the treaty-making and tariff-imposing power of Congress, entrusted to the legislative body by the framers of our Constitution, there appeared before the Ways and Means Committee, of which I am a member, this past week, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, and Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper. The cause they espouse has to do with lowering the tariffs and their every argument was weighed with the conclusion, which seems impractical to me, that the United States, since it is now a creditor nation, must buy from foreign nations in ever-increasing quantities.

It was impossible to escape the impression that these men are dreaming of a world in which free and unrestricted interchange of commodities between nations, on a basis of producing where the natural elements and costs of labor conspire to make production the cheapest, is the goal toward which they would proceed without delay. Ignoring the difference in costs of production, standards of living and organization of society in this country as compared to other parts of the world, they offer another plan to concentrate power in the hands of the Chief Executive, power which they instead of the President would administer, and which further deprives the people of the nation of control of their own affairs through parliamentary action.

Government in which Congress participates means a continuance of a government of nationalism; government by those mentioned above means a government ever moving toward internationalism, and at a time when every other nation in the world has abandoned internationalism and is becoming self-sustaining as rapidly as possible.

If their apparent plan is carried to its ultimate conclusion, we will buy all our sugar from Cuba, our beef from the Argentine, our wheat from Australia, Canada, and the Argentine, our wool and mutton from Australia and the Argentine, our dairy products from Australia, New Zealand and Denmark, our beans and peas from Japan, our tomatoes from Mexico, our onions from Spain, our coal from England, our machinery and cutlery from Great Britain and Germany, and our petroleum products from Russia.

Can it be that the representatives of the people in Congress will close their eyes to the fact that the rest of the world is in a veritable frenzy of nationalism and self-sufficiency, of repudiation of debts and sacred obligations as between nations? Where can there be found a more reckless disregard for the solemnity of obligations and the sanctity of contracts between sovereign nations than is exhibited by our foreign debtors in refusing to pay even the interest on their debts to us? It is common knowledge that at the time France first refused to make further payments of either interest or principal on her debt to us, there were seven hundred millions of dollars of her gold in the vaults of this country available to meet such payments. Since that time every one of our debtor nations has followed the lead of France in this respect.

We had an example of what would be likely to happen in a world-wide scale if the Chief Executive is vested by Congress with

Did You Know?

Approximately three years is required to build a capital ship of the Navy. One year is necessary to prepare the plans and assemble material preparatory to the laying of the keel; another year lapses between the laying of the keel and the launching of the vessel; the third year is necessary to complete the ship before she is placed in commission.

The United States Navy was the first regular customer for radio telegraph apparatus in this country.

During the World War the United States laid down 171 destroyers but by the time the Armistice had been declared only 38 of that number had been completed. Only 27 of those completed reached the war zone before the Armistice ended the war.

A major sea battle between the English and German fleets during the World War was prevented by a storm at sea.

The United States flag is the third oldest of the National Standards, older than the Union Jack of Britain or the Tri-Color of France.

Missing since April, a bell from the German cruiser Emden which was one of Australia's most prized World War relics, was found buried near Melbourne. The sinking of the Emden represented Australia's first sea fight.

The first submarine war vessel of the American Navy made its first dive March 17, 1898, remaining under water one hour and forty minutes.

Four different woods are used in the construction of warships. They are pine, fir, elm and teak.

The "trade" agreement, treaty-making powers in the incident which happened recently when France agreed to import from us a large quantity of apples in exchange for giving her a larger quota of wine shipments to this country. We took the wine all right, but France found a way to let the American apples rot on the docks of French ports, almost a total loss to the shippers.

We have had another example which indicates the road these gentlemen would have us travel in the attempts now being made to put through Congress legislation which in the end would result in the destruction of the sugar-beet industry in this country and turn that part of our sugar market now supplied by the American producer over to our Cuban neighbors to the south. This seems to me to be an utterly indefensible proposal, but one quite in keeping with the theories expressed to us by the advocates above referred to.

While I ascribe to the Secretary of Agriculture and to the Secretary of State all the good intentions in the world, yet the views they advanced to my committee are so visionary and so apt to affect disastrously the fortunes of our people, that I listened to them with amazement and in wonderment at the lengths to which self-deception can go. This is the day and hour of the theorist who translates whole peoples into a new world by the magic of his plans. More often than not he forgets the hard and bitter struggle of humanity to progress by degrees. He sees the Utopia of his dreams to be had for the reaching, and with a fervor that knows no bounds he proclaims an end to discord by means so clear to him that he can not understand how a basis of disagreement could be seen, much less voiced by honest opposition. And, when our theorist friends are placed in positions of almost limitless power such as has been conferred upon the Secretary of Agriculture by the present agricultural adjustment program, the expansiveness of their plans knows no limits.

THANKS TO THE GOVERNOR

(The following information is published at the request of a personal friend of Detroit.—Ed.)

One of the high-lights of Governor Comstock's appointments was that of Mark Hanna Racing Commissioner, which is the consensus of opinion by all horse owners and race attendants as a right man in the right place.

Mr. Hanna has made hosts of friends; he deserves credit in holding the racing game on the highest level by all who love the racing past-time.

Therefore the public can be assured that with Mr. Hanna at the helm, harmony will prevail and this season's meeting will be a big success to all concerned.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Intramural League for boys of the 8th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades has concluded its season.

This league played a schedule of nine games and the Tigers, captained by Don Kangas and coached by George Hanson, came through with the winning percentage of .667 for the six games they played. The Tigers defeated their rivals by means of consistent offense that faltered but twice in games with the second-place team, the Wildcats.

The Tigers used the following men in their line-up: Don Kangas, Capt., Lloyd Gierke, Floyd Wylie, Alex Kochanowski, Homer King, Daniel Ward, Charles Muth.

The League standing: Team W L Per. Tigers 4 2 .667 Wildcats 3 3 .500 Vikings 2 4 .333

The Grayling High School Hi-Y club sponsored this league for the second year and supplied the referees, scorers, and timers. Besides the regular league schedule three games were played with Frederic High School and while the teams of league All-Stars failed to win one of these games, yet the rivalry was good and worth developing.

The league has seen several of its members move on up to either the first or second high school teams and besides giving lively competition and a lot of fun, the boys have been learning to handle their arms and legs and enjoy the chance to increase their skill with benefit to themselves and their school.

This year the student body has had several assembly programs, and listened to many interesting and instructive speeches. Last Thursday they had the pleasure of hearing Professor E. V. Götter of the University of Michigan and District Conservation Officer Aldrich speak on the subject of preserving the forests.

Professor Götter began by comparing the forests of 40 or 50 years ago to those of the present day. During this "Paul Bunyan Period," he said, Michigan was producing more timber than any other state. Now it is using three times as much as is being cut. The approximate cost is $10 for every 1000 board feet of timber brought into Michigan. From 15 to 20 million dollars is spent on freight alone. This is indeed very costly.

Some few say that it is impossible to grow enough timber to supply this need. It is Professor Götter's opinion that it can be done. A great deal of this part of the country is given over to farming—the land of which, in parts, is unsuitable. This land could be used for profitable timber growing.

It is also well to look into the future. Resorting is now the second biggest business in the state. It is not at all improbable that it shall grow. The attractions for these resorters seem to be our fine pine forests, lakes and game. If these forests continue to be destroyed, a great factor in the increase of this trade would be removed.

It is the duty of the people to preserve the forests—not only for the present but also for future generations. Professor Götter looks forward to the time when the people will have answered this duty and rebuilt the natural resources of Michigan.

Conservation Officer Aldrich then gave some very interesting information concerning the functions of the Department of Conservation, which is one of the largest of the state departments.

Last year, Officer Aldrich said, statistics show that there were 81 fires in Crawford County, and from 8 to 10 acres of timber land destroyed. 20% of these fires were due to carelessness—mostly on the part of smokers. And how can this carelessness be prevented? By pointing it out to the people. By suggesting to passing tourists and resorters that their campfires be extinguished before they are left—that cigarettes be put out before they are thrown away—and that any other "fire-starters" be done away with.

Mr. Burns closed the program by suggesting that since the tourist season was drawing near and since it depended a great deal on the type of people who worked to answer the needs of the resorters, it would be well to develop a courteous, kind and thoughtful attitude.

There has been considerable rivalry between the various classes the past week due to the inter-class tournaments being held. The sixth, seventh and eighth grades make up one tournament and the four high-school grades and the faculty the other.

So far there have been three games played. The sixth and seventh the first—the seventh graders being victorious in a score of 14-8. The next game was between the Sophomores and Seniors. At the end of this tangle the Sophs were at the top of a 29-7 score.

The last game played proved to be very exciting. This was between the Freshmen and Junior classes. In the last eight minutes of the game 20 points were scored. Thus the score changed very rapidly in favor of either side. However at the end of the eight minutes the Freshmen were ahead with a score of 26-25.

SOME BULLET

Another military revelation is a bullet invented by a German, Heinrich Gerlich. The bullet is of a .25 caliber type with soft metal wings or fins, capable of an initial speed of 5,800 feet per second or about 4,000 miles per hour, twice the speed of the ordinary high powered bullet. This bullet is termed the "winged horror" not only because it will penetrate half an inch of armor plate, but for its great explosive power similar to that of the dum-dum bullet which spreads upon striking the target.

To An Old Car.

I traded you in on a bright, new, shiny car today, but I hated to see you go . . . honest;

The paint is coming off you in spots, your faithful old engine knocks on the grades and your tires are down to the fabric;

But when I turned you over to the mechanic I patted your hood a little;

Yes, maybe I am a silly old fool, but sailors love ships, so why can't I love a car?

We've been through a lot together, you and I;

Your headlights have bored a hole in the black night, a torch lighting the way home;

We've been out on the lonely road together in howling blizzards with only the lights on your instrument board for cheer;

You've seemed to rejoice with me when victory has crowned my efforts;

You alone have heard me sing and whistle without complaint; To you I have told my troubles and you've listened in sympathetic silence;

You have given many a good time to me, and to those I love; You have taken us to the tops of high mountains and revealed beautiful vistas;

You have taken us to the cool waters of pleasant lakes;

You have widened our horizons, multiplied our friendships, made life more worth the living;

And you bring back memories of happy times with loved ones now gone away;

You've carried me a distance that measures twice around the world;

When I've wanted to hurry you've never complained, you've ground off the miles cheerfully;

You've broken down only once or twice, and that wasn't your fault, it was because I had neglected you;

They're delivering a bright, shiny car today.

It may get away quicker on the green light;

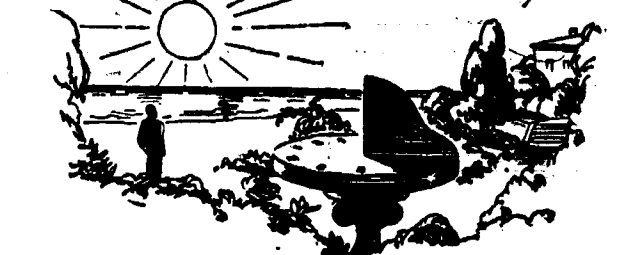

It may have knee-action wheels and the other stuff the writers tell about;

And I suppose I'll come to love it as I've loved you;

But as you go on the Scrap Pile of Forgotten Cars, You can depend upon it that I will remember you;

So here's looking at you, Old Car of mine.
